MISS BLATT GAINS 11 ON ABSENTEES

Miss Genevieve Blatt of Pittsburgh gained 11 votes in her campaign for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator, when the absentee ballots mailed in to the Adams County election board were counted Friday.

Of the 19 votes cast by absentees and military Democrats for U.S. senator, 13 went to Miss Blatt, only two to Judge Michael A. Musmanno and David B. Roberts, Pittsburgh prothonotary, received four.

That brought Miss Blatt's vote in the county Democratic primary to 1,818. Roberts was 460 and Musmanno's 442. Statewide Miss Blatt was leading Musmanno by less than 2,500 votes prior to Friday's tabulation, by election boards in counties throughout the state, of the absentee ballots.

14 SPOILED BALLOTS

Adams County sent 115 ballots to absentee voters, 38 of them Democratic and 77 Republicans. Only 93 ballots were returned and when the count was made Friday it was found that 14 of those were spoiled because the voter had forgotten to sign the outer envelope, three because the voter had forgotten to place his ballot in an unmarked envelope before putting it inside the signed envelope and found because they were postmarked too late to be included.

The Democratic absentee voters cast only 12 votes for Presidential preference, ten for President Johnson to bring his total tabulation in the county to 1,023; one for Henry Cabot Lodge, to bring his Democratic total in the county to 21 and one for Robert Kennedy to bring his total to 41.

Robert Lee Jacobs received 15 votes from the absentees for judge of the Superior Court on the Democratic ticket; the others from one to eight votes, bringing their final tally in the county to Jacobs, 2,087; Woodside, 1,097; Bruno, 313; Simmons, 337 and Hoffman, 960.

OTHER FINAL FIGURES

Grace Sloan received 11 votes for auditor general to bring her total to 1,392 while Samuel Gunnett Neff received eight to tabulate 1,184.

Seventeen absentees voted for Thomas Z. Minehart for state treasurer boosting his total to 2,406; eight for N. Neiman Craley (Continued On Page 3)

END SERIES ON THEOLOGY AND DRAMA

Prof. H. Grady Davis of the Chicago Lutheran Seminary delivered the last of his three presentations Friday morning at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary. His subject for the series was "Liturgy as Drama."

Prof. Davis said that the celebration of the liturgy is a re-enactment of the entire drama of redemption where God brings all of the past and the future into the present. "The liturgy," he concluded, "is the sharing of the life of God in Christ."

Also on the morning's program was the third lecture by Prof. Paul Lehmann of Union Theological Seminary, New York. The final presentation of his topic "Kerygma and Drama" was entitled: "The Relationship between Memory, Pseudonymity, and Iconoclasm." Prof. Lehmann said that memory is the way used by God to restate his relationship with his people in time.

The Union theologian noted, however, that "Christianity is that religion whose memory has been liberated by its hope. It is the function of both preaching and drama to keep men mindful of their destiny and to tend the fire of memory." The modern problem of presenting the Gospel message, he concluded, may stem from a genuine misunderstanding of the content of the Gospel itself.

At the end of their lectures Professors Davis and Lehmann were joined by Professors Jacob Heikinen and Lawrence Folke of the Gettysburg Seminary faculty in a panel discussion on the theme "Drama and Liturgy." Friday's sessions marked the conclusion of the 1964 Seminary Week at the Lutheran Theological Seminary. The program was coordinated by Prof. Frederick K. Wentz of the seminary faculty.

PATIENTS IN COUNTY HOME IN 2 GROUPS

The Adams County commissioners Friday paid the bills for the traffic light installation at Cross Keys and received a report on the county home from Dr. Raymond F. Sheely which led the commissioners to wonder if the day may not come when the county will operate two county homes — one for those principally needing medical care and one for those needing only supervisory care.

Bills for the traffic light installation showed it cost the county $2,263.60. Of that amount, $4,789.50 went to Riegelmeier's Traffic Service, Harrisburg, which provides the lights for the intersection a mile east of New Oxford and the radar type "counting" device which determines whether the light should be green on Route 30 or Route 94. The remaining $3,473.10 went to R. B. Hobaugh and Son, Camp Hill, which installed the equipment.

ONE THERE 38 YEARS

The report of Dr. Sheely as county home physician showed the 73 guests in the home as of February were divided into "two distinct and separate groups." Forty-eight patients were handicapped by infirmities of the aged. Twenty-four patients primarily were handicapped by mental retardation. The youngest patient was 33 years of age; the oldest patients were 95 years of age.

According to the report, 62 patients were 60 years of age or older. Of that number 25 percent were primarily retarded mentally. Of the 18 patients who have resided at the home for 10 years or more, 78 percent are mentally retarded. Sixty percent of the 31 patients who have been residents for five years or more are mentally retarded, whereas 83 percent of the 42 residents at the home for less than five years are disabled with infirmities of age. "The mentally retarded have occupied domiciliary unit care for long periods of time, including all six of those who have been patients for more than 25 years. One patient has been at the home for 38 years, another for 35 years."

WARNING ON CATERPILLARS

HARRISBURG — The State Agriculture Department today recommended prompt spraying to control Eastern tent caterpillars that have become unusually active in the present period of warm weather.

The tents — or webs — can be seen in forks or branches of trees and caterpillars are feeding on the young leaves. If unchecked, they can completely defoliate trees in a short time.

Effective control can be achieved by spraying with the insecticide, Sevin, at the rate of two tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable powder in one gallon of water, according to Henry F. Nixon, director of the department's Bureau of Plant Industry.

Lead arsenate at the rate of four tablespoons to a gallon of water, or DDT at the rate of two tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable powder to a gallon of water also may be used, Nixon said. Sevin is preferable to these, he added, because of its lower toxicity to humans and warm blooded animals.

The tent caterpillar infests many types of trees, but are commonly found in apple, plum and wild cherry trees. Fruit trees should not be sprayed when in full bloom, Nixon stated.

Younger Brother Of Late President Of Viet Nam Executed By Firing Squad

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — While 200 officials and news-men watched, a firing squad today executed Ngo Dinh Can, the younger brother of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Can died blindfolded and strapped to a pole in the middle of a prison soccer field in Saigon.

His body crumpled and hung limply as blood streaked his black cloak and white silk pants.

CARRIED ON STRETCHER

Can had been convicted of murder and other crimes while viceroy of Central Viet Nam. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had tried in vain to persuade the Viet Nam government to save his life.

Can, 53, the last important member of the powerful Ngo Dinh family remaining in Viet Nam, was brought out the field in a stretcher. In late years he suffered from diabetes and recently had a heart attack.

Two Roman Catholic priests walked by his side, murmuring prayers.

A spokesman for the military junta ruling South Viet Nam said Can asked that his blindfold be removed but that the request was refused.

President Diem and another brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were killed in the Vietnamese revolt of last November. The other members of their clan that dominated political affairs for a decade are dead or in exile.

AIDE EXECUTED

One of Can's top lieutenants, Phan Quang Dong, 36, went before a firing squad earlier today in the public stadium at Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon.

Can had his headquarters at Hue. He was sentenced to death by a nine-man court in Saigon April 22 on charges of murder, extortion and abusing his power. Can denied all the charges.

He was the fourth to die of six brothers of a mandarin family that dominated South Viet Nam for a decade. All four died violently.

The widowed former first lady, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, and two other survivors are living in exile abroad. They are ex-diplomat Ngo Dinh Luyen and the Most Rev. Pierre Martin Ngo Dinh Thuc, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Hue.

CHANGE RADIO SIGNALS HERE

Changes in the "ten-signals" used by firemen to expedite radio messages were approved Thursday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Fire Chiefs Association at Fairfield.

The changes came following a report by a committee established some months ago to go over the list of signals, check them against the ten-signals used by neighboring counties in order to secure uniformity and establish a number of additional signals to cover various additional situations and responses. The "ten-signals" are a system whereby much information can be given quickly and accurately. As an example, "10-4" would be the response instead of "I understand your message and will comply with it."

Irvin J. Houck and the committee were asked by President Robert Hartman to arrange for printing a listing of the new ten-signals for distribution to all of the fire companies in the county.

Plans were announced for the June 4 meeting of the fire chiefs at Gettysburg.

A motion picture made by the U. S. Air Force was shown depicting fire fighting procedures in the event of fire in which nuclear weapons are involved.

SUMMER JOB HELP OFFERED

Now is the time to register for summer jobs, Ronald K. Baltzley, manager of the Gettysburg office of Pennsylvania's Bureau of Employment Security, reminded area high school and college students today.

At the same time he urged employers to keep his office at 39 West St. informed of their special worker needs during the summer vacation period as well as of all their job openings throughout the year. Baltzley also asked homemakers needing short-time, part-time or full-time summer help to make use of the bureau's listing of screened job applicants.

Baltzley said that each summer hundreds of teen-agers in the Gettysburg office area seek employment in order to spend their vacations usefully. He described the students who are eager to work as "capable, sincere, conscientious and industrious" and pointed out that many are seeking funds to permit them to continue their schooling.

Students will accept vacation jobs of a few hours duration or on a part-time or full-time basis, the bureau official stated. He called the hiring of part-time and seasonal workers to relieve regular employees of excessive work loads "good business."

According to Baltzley, many youngsters are influenced in the selection of their future vocations through experience obtained in summer jobs. He asserted that youth counselors maintain that the good work habits learned in a summer job are valuable even if the job itself leads to no definite future.

should occupy a place of special honor among us." He and Governor William Scranton, who also proclaimed the month for the state, both stressed the theme "Opportunities for Older Americans" and urged not only recognition of the Senior Citizens, but "continuing maximum use of the skills of our Senior Citizens."

PLACED OLDER WORKERS

In line with the theme of "opportunity for Senior Citizens" Ronald K. Baltzley, manager of the Gettysburg office of the Bureau of the Employment Security, has reported that during the last year his office placed 214 older workers, and has applications from 404 older workers "who are seeking an opportunity to prove themselves good workers."

While the Senior Citizens groups list 60 as the bottom age for "older persons," the Bureau of Employment Security drops the "older person" designation to the 40s. Baltzley noted, "When persons in their 40s and 50s cannot find work because of age restrictions on job openings, or persons 55 or 60 are forced into premature retirement, the loss to the state and nation is substantial, and the loss to the individual is incalculable."

SOUTH KOREAN CABINET QUILTS

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The South Korean cabinet resigned today amid clamor by the ruling Democratic - Republican party for increased representation in the government.

President Chung Hee Park quickly accepted the resignations, naming Foreign Minister Chung Il-kwon to succeed Premier Choi Doo-sun.

Chung, 45, a retired army general, had served as ambassador to the United States, France and Turkey before his recall last December to join the Choi government.

Choi, announcing the resignations after an hour-long cabinet meeting, said they would give Park a free hand in reshuffling the government and "pave the way for closer cooperation between the government and the opposition camp."

Wet Weather Has Helped Apple Scab

Apple scab is present in some orchards as a result of the prolonged wet weather in April, according to apple spray information letter No. 3 sent out Friday by County Agent Thomas E. Piper to the county's fruit-growers. The report shows also that red banded leaf roller eggs are hatching, but are scarce in most orchards and that red mites and two-spotted mites are present in some orchards.

The spray is listed as the "petal fall" to be placed as soon as 95 per cent of the petals are off the trees.

Growers following Schedule 1 are to use, for dilute sprays, 1/2 pound of Guthion, two pounds of lead arsenate and two pounds of Captan per 100 gallons. Those following Schedule II are to use a pound of Parathion, 1/4 pound Dieldrin and 1/2 pound Dieldrin. For concentrate sprays, in either schedule, all materials are to be tripled.

They will be nude. So will 200 invited guests, two flower girls, three bridesmaids and the 86-year-old best man.

Her groom, Charles Morrow, 23, a Miami sailor on leave, was not. Charles met Sissy two years ago.

Mrs. Dawson said that, despite publicity, "this wedding is not going to be a Roman holiday. It's just an old-fashioned wedding, the largest nudist wedding anyone's ever had."

Newsmen and photographers were invited with the stipulation they also bare themselves and come only in couples.

The ceremony will be conducted within the confines of Sunny Acres, the seaside American Nudist Association camp directed by Dawson.

Sissy and her groom plan to get dressed and leave immediately after their reception for a honeymoon.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO

El Lock Marks His 30th Anniversary In Business Here:
El Lock who came to Gettysburg as a 20-year-old youth on Friday, May 14, 1924, today was celebrating his 30th anniversary in business at 42 York St.

Thirty years ago today Mr.
Lock took possession of the property which had been occupied by the Allen shoe repair shop with the Hoffman House and the old Lincolnway theater there among his neighbors. They have been gone for years but El Lock's shoe repair shop has been doing a steady business at the same stand for three decades and El now numbers among his customers many "second generation" folk who came to him to have their footwear repaired.

Mr. Lock who claims for himself the title of "the best show-maker on York St. for 30 years," was married a year and a month after he came to Gettysburg.
The ceremony was performed June 14, 1925, in Baltimore and his bride was the former Ethel Heyman, also a Lithuanian by birth. Both have since become naturalized citizens of the United States.

They have two children — a son and a daughter — and one Mr. Lock has never employed any extra help. "It's a one-man shop but we work here together," Mrs. Lock said. Mr. Lock says he believes the "first 30 years were the easiest" but has no plans for retiring. Both he and Mrs. Lock expressed their appreciation to the hundreds of customers they have served in the last 30 years.

Mr. Lock came here from Harrisburg where he was in the shoe repair business for about 10 months. He liked Gettysburg, brought his bride here a year later and sums it up with these words: "This is my life, here in Gettysburg."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Sandoe, Biglerville, who will observe their 50th wedding anniversary
Wednesday, were honored at St.
Paul's Lutheran Church, Biglerville, Sunday morning when they were joined by their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren at the regular services. Rev. Dr. Henry W.
Sternat, pastor officiated.

Afterwards a dinner was served at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr.
and Mrs. David E. Sandoe, York St., Biglerville. The celebrants received an easy chair and flowers from their children.
Mr. Sandoe also received a gold tie pin and Mrs. Sandoe an orchid corsage from the grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandoe were married May 19, 1904, in Rock
Wood, Somerset County. Mr.
Sandoe, a native of Adams county, is a retired farmer and fruitgrower. A son of the late Mr.
and Mrs. Henry Sandoe, Biglerville, he is 76. A veteran of the Spanish-American War, he is a past commander of the USWV, Gettysburg Chapter.

Mrs. Sandoe is the former Miss Margaret Scurlfield, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs.
James Scurlfield. She is 68 and engaged in seasonal employment at the C. H. Musselman Company, Biglerville. Both are in good health and have resided in Adams County most of their married life.

Their children and grandchildren include: James Sandoe and son, Sereck; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Showers and daughter, Martha;
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sandoe and son, Craig; Mr. and Mrs.
Harry Guise and children, Earl,

Today's Talk

THE LIFE WITHIN

Maturity of mind and heart, so that their ripeness becomes a blaze of light, liberating the individual into an appreciative entity, seeing truth and beauty in all things — this is to truly conquer, to become truly a free human being and a happy one.

Spinoza, a philosopher to whom Goethe looked as an inspiration, once wrote: "The greatest pride, or the greatest dependency, is the greatest ignorance of one's self."

The most unhappy individuals known to me have always been those who disregard their birthright of a heaven within themselves. Spinoza sought to free the mind of the individual of this pent-up ignorance of self. He suggested "the intellectual love of God," and turning away one's thoughts from the material to the eternal. In nature, and in good deeds — without expectation of immediate material reward — was what he sought to be made a universal rule for self-education and a happy procedure of life.

How very little we explore our own mind and heart! What infinite treasures lie within each for wealth exploration! How few of us realize this opportunity until often very late, when the human and spiritual forces loom as the most important in all the experience of life! Our total wealth at death, regardless of how successful we may have been in a material way, is as nothing to what we leave behind in the minds and hearts of human beings.

The greatest personal satisfaction that comes to any of us is not that of outward applause, high honors, or adulation, far and wide, but that which we feel as having been gained as an asset to our inward life. It is this life within that holds all our most precious experiences, and it is there that both our joys and sorrows meet.

It is the life within that we alone regulate and control. It is the seat of our sacred shrine, and from whose altar our silent communications and prayers meet the ear of the infinite God.
There it is that peace and serenity of mind are born.

Just Folks

A MAN MAKES A DISCOVERY

The proud man from his dwelling strode

To find a less ornate abode.

With solemn face he went his way

Thinking in splendor and display

And all man's many selfish prides

The genuine joy of life abides.

Into a humbler street he turned

Which heretofore his feet had spurned

The little houses, side by side,

He gazed on, sad and terrified

Till from a door, he fancied glim,

He saw a smiling woman come.

"I hear it told," to him said she

"Our neighbor soon you're going to be.

I hope you'll like the house next door,

The occupants of it before

Were happy there! It may be you Will find the place enchanting, too.

"We think our little street is gay

With friendly people all the way;

In spring the lawns grow green and then

The gardens come to bloom again."

The proud man put away his pride

And was no longer terrified.

Imposters Take
$200,000 In Gems

NEW YORK (AP)—Flashing
what appeared to be an official badge, a gunman and two companions gained entrance to the office of a diamond firm Friday and fled with $200,000 in unset gems.

Sane Hoffer, a partner in Hof-fert and Frey, said a man knocked on the seventh-floor door and showed what appeared to be a shield of a protective agency.

Inside, the man produced a gun and called to two accomplices who scooped up the gems and put them in an attache case, Hoffer said.

The ancient harbor of Alexandria was a bedlam of noise and whistling as the Soviet liner Armenia carrying Khrushchev and some 100 aides docked at 9 a.m. Jet fighters roared overhead and Soviet-built destroyers and submarines of the Egyptian navy escorted the Armenia into port.

21-GUN SALUTE

A 21-gun salute boomed and thousands of seamen and dock workers lining the piers shouted as Khrushchev walked down the gangway.

Flags, bunting and victory arches decorated the city as Nasser gave his guest a reception far outshining the one for Red China's Premier Chou En-lai last December.

A barge with top Egyptian officials on board met the Armenia in the harbor. Khrushchev was welcomed by Nasser on shore.

In addition to Soviet officials and dozens of security agents, Khrushchev, 70, was accompanied by his wife, Nina, and their son, Sergei, and daughter, Rada Adzhubel.

The official purpose of the visit is to enable Khrushchev to take part in ceremonies marking the completion of the first stage of the Aswan High Dam.
But the trip has far wider implications.

Khrushchev is expected to kick off a major propaganda offensive for the Soviet brand of communism in Africa, seeking to minimize the inroads made by Red China.

MISS BLATT
LEADING BY
3,383 VOTES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—First day tallies of absentee ballots plus official returns from polling places have raised Genevieve Blatt's lead to 3,383 over Justice Michael Musmanno in the Democratic contest for the senatorial nomination.

The counting of absentee ballots began Friday, and 17 counties so far have reported their complete official returns, including the absentees. Another seven counties have reported official returns without the absentee ballots, which are still to be counted. And three counties have reported the absentee tally, with complete results still to come.

MR. BRICK IS FAVORITE IN $50,000 RACE

NEW YORK (AP) — The lesser lights of the turf's 3-year-old division get a chance to race for big money today without worrying about Northern Dancer and Hill Rise.

While Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, runner-up Hill Rise and the next three finishers await next Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico, 16 equine sophomores clash in the one mile of the $50,000-added Withers Mile at Aqueduct.

Eleven of the 16 are eligible for the Preakness and a top performance could put them in the starting line-up for the second race in the Triple Crown series. With 16 starters the gross value of the Withers will be $63,200 with $41,000 going to the winner. Each carries 126 pounds.

Mr. Brick, sixth in the Kentucky Derby, is the 5-2 choice under Bob Ussery, who replaces Milo Valenzuela in the saddle of the Roy Sturgis-owned colt. Second choice at 3-1 is R. N. Webster's entry of Traffic and National.

Calumet Farm, which passed up the Derby after winning it seven times, has entered Kentucky Jug and Ky. Pioneer with hopes one or both will show enough to warrant a start in the Preakness.

Farm Agent Urges Use Of Trees, Shrubs, Grass And Other Things To Dress Area

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

One of the noblest forms of art is that which utilizes trees, flowers, shrubs, grass and other natural elements to mold beauty into what would otherwise be flat, bare hillsides, or other unattractive places.

Thomas E. Piper

A property line can be beautified by use of unpainted post and rail fence with climbing, everblooming roses trained over it. Everblooming roses have two beauty blooming periods. One comes in spring or early summer and the other in fall, usually with many flowers in between seasons. Modern roses bloom for a long period every year, longer than almost any other flower.

In planting a rose fence, select varieties wisely. Thick growing rose plants, such as Rosa Multiflora, are not suitable for small home places.

ROSE FENCE

A rose fence can be particularly lovely and fashionable and requires only moderate care. There can be red, orange, white, pink, yellow, lavender and in-between shades, or roses of different colors may be mixed. Many prefer a fence solid with one color.

Interesting effects can be created with rose fences by planting them in short lengths, 10 to 12 feet, at several locations around the property. If correctly done, this can give the effect of greater depth to the backyard or garden living area. Plan the rose garden first. Get material and build a support for climbers and plant as soon as weather permits. Dig out the rose bed area deeply, incorporate plenty of organic matter, peat moss or well-rotted manure. Provide a 4-in. mulch on top of the soil to keep moisture in and prevent weed growth. The earlier roses are planted the sooner they'll bloom.

EFFICIENT MILKING

The efficiency of milking systems can be increased by joining the vacuum lines to form a complete circuit.

Vacuum lines carry moving air from the milking units to the vacuum pump and in the process friction losses are encountered. The amount of friction losses depends upon the number of units in operation and the size and length of pipe.

No more than two units are recommended for one hundred feet of one-inch pipe in a single line. This length can be increased to 175 feet if 2 lengths of 175 feet are joined together in a circuit, provided that only the 2 units remain in use. The increase in efficiency is due to the fact that air can travel in either direction around the circuit.

The usual effect of joining the vacuum lines is increasing the carrying capacity of the system by one unit. In other words, if 2 lengths of 100 feet of one-inch pipe are joined, 3 instead of 2 units could be used.

ASSAULTS ON CUBA APPEAR LIKELY SOON

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exile sources said today that attacks by anti-Castro Cubans on Communist Cuba appear probable at any moment.

Spokesmen for various exile action groups in the United States appeared unanimous in predicting commando assaults soon on Cuban soil.

They said such attacks before May 20—Cuba's independence anniversary—appear all but certain.

Significantly, various cities with large exile populations reported the disappearance of groups of young men during recent weeks.

U.S. officials said they knew nothing of any assault plans, but in exile sectors here and in Florida there seemed a conviction that something is about to occur.

The sources added that small-scale attacks from anti-Communist groups within Cuba and without would be aimed at harassing Prime Minister Fidel Castro's dictatorship.

They said sabotage, infiltration, commando and guerrilla operations were contemplated. "What we hope to do," said one exile, "is to drive Castro and his Communist cohorts crazy and out of power."

In Washington, U.S. officials stressed that the government would have no part in any such attacks and would do everything possible to see that none originated on U.S. soil.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, asked about reported plans for hit-and-run attacks, told reporters the United States is opposed to them.

Cuban exile groups said the attacks would be launched from non-U.S. areas.

They said commando type raiders and guerrilla forces have been training for weeks in Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

FRIEND IS KILLED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police said Robert Robinson, 44, was shot and killed Friday night when he tried to force his way into a friend's home.

The friend, James Howard, 43, was arrested. Police said Howard surrendered and turned over a pistol with one spent cartridge.

system dairymen may want to consider using 1 1/4-inch pipe. It can be drilled and tapped for stall cocks, thus eliminating many fittings.

We do not recommend the use of three-quarter-inch vacuum lines.

"CARPET BEETLE"

The term "carpet beetle" is generally applied to a group of small beetles whose larvae feed on a wide variety of items. However, floor carpeting is one of the items they seldom attack.

They do like woolen clothes, furs, leather, feathers, dead insects and other animal products. They also like herbs, chocolate, cereal products and other foods found in kitchen cupboards. As you can see, the name "carpet beetle" is, indeed misleading.

The tiny adult beetles are usually most active from April through June. This is when the majority of their eggs are laid. The small brown fuzzy "worms" or larvae that hatched from these eggs are now eating away. So, this is a good time to check all clothes closets, trunks and cupboards for these tiny fuzzy worms. Few homes in Pennsylvania escape their presence.

Carpet beetle infestations are difficult to cleanup, but their populations can be reduced by painting or spraying the infested areas with an insecticide. Use a household type spray containing either one-half per cent diazinon, dieldrin or lindane, or two per cent chlordane or malathion. Avoid excessive amounts of spray mist in a room and keep it off food.

Follow directions on the container—be sure you're using the insecticide correctly.

JURIST FREES 2 POLICEMEN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Judge Leo Weinrott has acquitted two Philadelphia policemen who had been accused of shaking down a theft suspect.

The judge ruled Friday, the accuser, Robert Mathis, 27, was mentally incompetent to testify. Police said Mathis suffered a seizure in a city hall cellroom when the case was called last Monday and was unable to testify.

The policemen who were cleared were Sgt. Nathan Smith, 44, and George Weller. They had been suspended after Mathis made his accusations. They said they will seek immediate reinstatement.

Mathis was arrested last Jan. 22 and questioned about the theft of a rifle. While under arrest he charged Smith and Weller offered to forget the case for $100.

FIRST PILOT TO TAKE JUDO LESSON KILLED

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — Disclosure that the pilot of a Pacific Air Lines plane that crashed had been shot brought to light a chain of coincidences.

Another Pacific Air Lines pilot, Oscar Cleal, now 44, was shot in the flight compartment of his plane as it taxied at the Chico, Calif., airport on July 31, 1961, by a man who told officers he wanted to force Cleal to take him to a point off the pilot's route.

Cleal, blinded by a slug that struck his head, set up a judo training program for pilots, something he had long thought was necessary. He got help in his project from an FBI man, Raymond E. Andress Sr.

The copilot who died in Thursday's crash was Raymond E. Andress Jr., the first pilot to complete Cleal's judo training program.

Cleal, now a Menlo Park, Calif., stockbroker, stressed anew a statement he made after his experience at Chico—that

TOP FIGURES IN 2 PARTIES ARE INDICTED

BOSTON (AP) — A wholesale batch of indictments has descended on top figures in both major political parties in Massachusetts in a sweeping investigation of corruption in the state government.

A special grand jury returned 137 indictments against 26 persons Friday, charging such crimes as bribery, larceny, requesting bribes and conspiracy.

The list of the accused was topped by House Speaker John F. Thompson, a Democrat from Ludlow, and one of his Republican predecessors, Charles Gibbons.

"I have great faith in the integrity of our courts," Thompson said, "and I will be vindicated."

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Republican, directed presentation of the evidence during the 10 weeks the jury was sitting.

Brooke said suppression of legislation was involved in most of the allegations. He said the legislation would have affected agencies handling small loans.

Also indicted were 10 corporations, including nine small loan companies and 17 of their officials.

Brooke said the defendants will be arraigned as soon as possible.

The evidence put before the grand jury was gathered by the State Crime Commission, a body established last year by the legislature. Its membership consists of prominent private citizens of both parties but no current officeholders.

Thompson was accused of requesting and accepting bribes and conspiracy. He was named in 31 indictments covering 1960 through 1962, plus conspiracy from 1954 to date.

Johnson Repeats Appeal On Poverty, Civil Rights

By FRANK CORMIER

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson carried to New York today the same appeals he voiced repeatedly this week to audiences in the Deep South: Promote civil rights and wipe out poverty.

After two days in Appalachia and the South, Johnson was armed with a speech identical in thought—even in phrasing—to those he delivered below the Mason-Dixon Line.

"I want to say in New York today what I said in Atlanta yesterday," the President declared in remarks prepared for his late-morning appearance at the 50th birthday party of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Johnson returned to Washington Friday after 32 hours of barnstorming through six states. He showed no sign of fatigue, which was fortunate in view of today's itinerary.

The speech to the clothing workers, in Singer Bowl at the New York World's Fair, was the first of five appearances.

Johnson also agreed to dedicate the Venezuelan Pavilion at the Fair, have lunch at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N.Y., with a delegation of Nassau County leaders, then dedicate the John F. Kennedy Cultural Center at the old Mitchell Air Force Base on Long Island.

Tonight Johnson addresses a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Convention Hall at Atlantic City.

Accuse Students Of Breaking Panes

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., (AP) — Three University of Virginia seniors — two of them Pennsylvanians — face a court hearing next Tuesday on charges of breaking store windows with an air pistol. One was also charged with fleeing at high speeds from police.

The students, just a month away from graduation, are Bruce C. Woodruff, 22, of Wayne, Pa., Augustus Peabody G. Biddle, 22, of Chester Springs, Pa., and Robert A. Jortland, 21, of Wantagh, N.Y.

Biddle also faces charges of speeding and reckless driving. Police said at times the chase reached speeds of 80 miles an hour through downtown Charlottesville.

City, N.J. It is in this hall that Democrats expect to nominate him for a full term as president in August.

Johnson told the clothing workers they had helped him in the past, adding, "And who knows—it may be that you can help me out again, sometime soon."

Soon, it turned out, meant right now.

The idea for separate printing types is said to have occurred to Coster, pioneer printer of Haarlem, Holland, when he cut some letters from beech tree bark one day to amuse his grandchildren.

Gives Clothing Advice For Brides-To-Be; Should Keep Eye To Future Needs

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Extension Home Economist
Brides-to-be may do well to select their trousseau with an eye to the future. Cloud Nine wedding plans are fine, but they often have the cold hard facts of a bank balance.

MRS. TUNISON

Selecting her wedding wardrobe, while she keeps her mind on the new life she'll lead, helps a young woman make good use of line, color and design.

When buying ready-to-wear clothing, a young woman should always read the label. Since March, 1960, all garments are required by law to carry a label that gives the generic (family) names and percentage by weight of the fiber or fibers in the product. Manmade fibers used mainly for clothing include the generic names of rayon, acrylic, modacrylic, nylon, polyester and acetate.

Besides having generic names, fibers also have trade names. To cite one example, polyester is the generic name and trade names include dacron, fortrel, vycron and kodel. By knowing the fiber and understanding its characteristics, a woman can give a garment the kind of care it needs.

Brides-to-be will do well to use these same buying tips after they're married. Making satisfactory purchase, either of men's or women's wear, depends on knowing fiber content of a garment and how to care for it after they buy it.

REASONS FOR MOVING

When a family moves from one town to another, it's usually because the breadwinner is changing jobs. However, some families sell their houses and buy others in the same area.

To find out, research workers at the Pennsylvania State University interviewed 254 families. Lack of space was the reason 60 per cent of the families gave for selling one house and buying another in the same community.

Rating second as their reason for moving was that it was impractical to add rooms to a small house. More than half the families interviewed said too little storage space was their reason for moving. Not enough bathroom facilities rated fourth among the reasons for moving from one house to another in the same area.

With the high cost of building, it may not be possible for every family to have enough bedrooms and a recreation room. But most houses, even those that are fairly inexpensive, should offer adequate storage space and an extra bathroom.

Whether building or buying a house, a family should check its storage needs. A list of all items that will need storage, such as lawn furniture, play and sports equipment, and out-of-season clothing will be helpful. A house that features plenty of storage space and an extra bath will be easier to sell if a family must dispose of it.

VALUES IN QUALITY BEEF

Good values in high-quality beef cuts are in store for foodshoppers during May.

The rapid buildup of beef herds during the last two years accounts for the heavier than usual supply of beef on the market this month. To help move this large supply of high-quality meat, the food industry will feature beef more prominently so shoppers can take advantage of the good values.

During recent years, consumers have been spending about 2.5 per cent of their incomes for beef. And as incomes have gone

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

NEW YORK (AP) — At the age of 4, Peter Nero was able to make up tunes on a toy xylophone.

At 7, while visiting relatives, he began picking out the same tunes on a battered old upright piano.

By the time he was 14, Peter had won several awards and made a number of symphony hall appearances. He was regarded as a child prodigy, and it was taken for granted by his teachers and family that he would become a concert pianist.

TURNING POINT AT 22

"But the most important thing in this world is to be honest with yourself," said Peter. "The turning point in my life came at 22 when I decided I didn't want to be a classical concert artist. I always hated to practice, and you can't hate to practice and be that kind of a professional artist."

Despite his early dislike for spending long hours at the piano, Nero went on to carve his own unique niche in the musical world.

At 29, featuring a blend of classical forms with jazz improvisations, he has become perhaps the most successful "pop" pianist in the field.

102 CONCERTS A YEAR

Each year he does 100 concerts, appears on up to a dozen television shows, and turns out three albums. He also has composed 30 tunes, acted in and written the music score for a film, and signed to do three more films.

Peter certainly suffered no financial loss by turning his back on a purely classical career.

He worked several years on the cocktail lounge and supper club circuit.

STILL LIKES MUSIC

He foresees no great change forthcoming in American music.

"The market today is dominated by teen-agers, so it is difficult to tell what the real musical tastes of the country are. Teen-agers seem to have a lot more money to spend than they did 15 or 20 years ago."

What about England's latest gift to culture—the long-haired Beatles?

"I think the Beatles are wonderful—but I still like music myself," he said.

YOUNG LAWYER SURVIVES 40 YEARS IN FBI

By JOSEPH E. MOHBA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty years and seven presidents ago, a young and nervous Justice Department lawyer was summoned to the office of the attorney general, Harlan Fiske Stone.

"Young man," the scowling Stone told John Edgar Hoover, 29, "I want you to be acting director of the Bureau of Investigation."

Moments later, the young man departed, launched on a career unparalleled in the annals of law enforcement.

J. Edgar Hoover's name was to become a byword for relentless, incorruptible, scientific crimefighting. His organization was to become a beacon to the professions of law enforcement and intelligence throughout the world.

40TH ANNIVERSARY

Sunday will be the 40th anniversary of that historic job promotion. And Hoover, now 69, shows no sign of quitting.

He will reach the compulsory government retirement age of 70 next New Year's Day. But President Johnson was expected to issue an executive order Friday to waive the requirement in Hoover's case. Thus the stocky FBI boss may be expected to stay at the helm as long as he feels fit.

EXCELLENT HEALTH

Today, unquestionably, Hoover is fit. His aides report him to be in top physical condition. They say his annual checkups continue to result in clean bills of health.

He moves and speaks with vigor. He maintains his weight at 160 pounds. In public speeches and in private conversation, his voice takes on the familiar angry edge when he talks about "hoodlum scum" and "gutter rats of society."

A lifelong bachelor—he never wanted to marry because of the competition the FBI would give his wife—Hoover lives in an old brick home in northwest Washington. One housekeeper attends him. He putters with his azaleas and walks with his two Cairn terriers, G-Boy and Tucker.

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — William H. Cressman, 29, was arrested Friday night and charged with murder and involuntary manslaughter in the suffocation death of his four-month old daughter, Dist. Atty. George J. Joseph of Lehigh County said Cressman admitted placing the child face down in a chair and shoving its head down between the chair and cushion to stop it from crying.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Estell Hendon, 37, was killed Friday by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train near the North Philadelphia station.

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shortly before his death President John F. Kennedy said he would take on his Republican opponent in the 1964 presidential race in television-radio debates. So far President Johnson has declined to say what he will do.

It would have been easy for Kennedy, an old hand at it after his four debates with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1960. All of them did Kennedy good. And no Republican then in sight seemed likely to outdo him.

Johnson, with no experience in this kind of national encounter, gave this answer when asked about the debates at his Dec. 18 news conference.

"BIG DADDY"

"I will make those decisions at the time I am the nominee and in the light of the circumstances existing then. For the present, I am not going to discuss any political matter."

He didn't stick to that absolutely. He has made some cracks about Republicans and practically everything he has done since has been a political matter in the sense of building up his voter appeal.

He's been so homey and down-to-earth and folksy and reassuring to so many people in so many fields of interest that he has created a picture of himself as a sort of national big daddy.

EATING IT UP

The public opinion polls indicate the people are eating it up. If he doesn't overdo it, no Republican candidate could possibly match him in public exposure since he's President and everything he does is news.

That raises the first question: Why, with this advantage, should he let an opponent, in one leap before the cameras and with one turn of the dial, enjoy the same spotlight with and perhaps do him damage by outdoing him?

The same question could have been asked about Kennedy, although not in 1960. Then Nixon was the national figure who had spent eight years as vice president building himself up. Kennedy was just a senator from Massachusetts.

WAS CONFIDENT

But after the very first debate, in which many felt he had bettered Nixon, he had to be equated in the public mind with the vice president.

As President, by debating a Republican contender, Kennedy would have been granting his opponent the same kind of exposure he himself got in his set to with Nixon. Why do it, then?

One guess is that Kennedy felt supremely confident about handling anyone the Republicans sent against him. If only for lack of experience, Johnson can't be sure he'd make out as well.

HE'S A POLITICIAN

Through the fresh insights they'd get into Johnson and his opposition arguing the issues in 1964, voters would be able to reach more intelligent decisions about both of them.

But Johnson, like Kennedy, is a politician with a race to win and the main problem of how. That would be the primary consideration for both. That's a practical reason for Johnson wanting to wait till he sees what he's up against.

By campaign time Johnson may decide, danger or not, the debates are necessary.

HAS GOOFED

To restore public acceptance through serious discussion if by then he has made some goofs in the presidency or suffered disfavor by too much running around and too much talking off the cuff.

Besides, he is thin-skinned. If he says he won't debate, the Republicans no doubt would try to needle him into changing his mind by attacking his reluctance to face his opponent.

There's a good reason now to think he might welcome the debates. He seemed a little uncertain of himself, starting out, but

QUICK ACTION AVERTS FIRE

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The life of an elderly woman patient was saved and a serious fire at Meadville City Hospital was prevented by another patient, a hospital spokesman says.

Miss Judy Kimple, 20, a patient in a semi-private room, swung into action Thursday when she noticed flames shoot out from underneath an oxygen tent of an adjoining bed.

Miss Kimple, who is a nurses aid, leaped out of her bed, grabbed the burning bed clothes from the other woman, disconnected the oxygen supply and pulled the patient from the bed.

The nursing staff quickly extinguished the blaze.

Miss Kimple and the other patient, who was not identified, were not hurt.

The fire started when the elderly woman attempted to light a mentholated, cigarette-shaped object which asthma sufferers use, James Werle, hospital superintendent, said.

he seems to be developing so much confidence in his voter appeal that he is now unpredictable from hour to hour.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

MORE REED (OR REID) FAMILY NOTES

While, at the present time, much of the genealogy of the Reed (or Reid) family remains somewhat of a mystery an occasional bit of light shines through — thanks to the records in the old newspaper files and the notes in the family Bible of James Wilson, the pioneer.

From the "Adams Sentinel" (later the "Star and Sentinel") the following were taken — from the issue published on the dates given.

19. Wednesday, June 18, 1828 — "Died, Saturday, June 14th, 1828, at an advanced age, Mr. Benjamin Reed, of Hamilton Township, this County. Mr. Reed was an old soldier of the Revolution."

COUPLE WEDS "UNDERWATER" IN AQUARIUM

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With a dolphin as an uninvited member of the wedding party, Duane Estelle Meile and Ralph Klotz Jr. were married 15 feet underwater Friday night at a Philadelphia aquarium.

The bride wore a silken gown and the bridegroom, a Navy enlisted man, wore his dress blues. Both wore shallow-water helmets equipped with microphones for the double-ring ceremony in one of the main tanks at Aquarama, Theater of the Sea.

"I've never been so wet in my life," said Klotz when he surfaced after the ceremony. Klotz, a deep-sea diving specialist in the Submarine Service, said "I counted 11 heads down and 11 heads up."

A dolphin swam among the members of the wedding party as the bride and bridegroom, trailing a stream of bubbles, walked the length of the tank. On a platform above the water the Rev. James L. Lowe of the Third Baptist Church read the ceremony. The bride's mother, Claire Petz, watched through windows in the side of the large tank.

"I counted 11 heads down and 11 heads up," said Klotz when he surfaced after the ceremony. Klotz, a deep-sea diving specialist in the Submarine Service, said "I counted 11 heads down and 11 heads up."

PUERTO RICAN POLITICS
New Book Argues For Freedom Now
Because Present Status Must End Soon

By JIM DAN HILL

ALL IS NOT WELL in America's neither - nor - and - not "possession" in the Caribbean. Puerto Rico is neither a state nor a territory. It is not independent. It is a "dominion," whatever that is.

A day could come when Puerto Rico may be the Cyprus of the Caribbean. The seeds are there. The harvest could be within our time.

Puerto Rico has about the same area as Cyprus — approximately 3,500 square miles. Both have fertile valleys, and majestic mountains, all clad in sun - drench, island splendor tempered by breezes from indigo seas.

Basically, the troubles in Cyprus stem from population conflicts arising from ethnic, linguistic and religious differences. Today the population of Puerto Rico is two and a half million, or five times what it was in 1900. An additional million, or more, from that population incubator have flowed to the United States, primarily to New York City.

Without that Malthusian, safety valve, flow to America's concrete Bagdad - on - the - Hudson, the American Congress and Puerto Rico would have been forced to vital decisions before now. Today the flow is slightly reversed. The day of decisions in Puerto Rico is being hastened.

THERE ARE three political parties in Puerto Rico. There are three, major political issues, one for each party. They are:

1) Popular Party, committed to perpetuation of Commonwealth status;

2) Estadista, or statehood, party who fear Commonwealth status cannot last forever and wish to consolidate within the U.S. while they can, and

3) the Independistas who are all-out for independence now.

The first is the party of prosperity, dominated by Governor Munoz, in his fourth, four-year term which ends in 1965. He is the father of the Commonwealth Constitution. It was wangled through the twilight days of the last Truman Administration and proclaimed 26 July 1952.

Unlike territorial governors the office is not by Presidential appointment, but is elected, along with the members of the legislative houses and other offices normally associated with complete statehood. There are no representatives or senators in the U.S. Congress. There is a representative without vote in the Lower House.

Moreover, the Popular Party and Governor Munoz do not want more representation. Without it, they can claim taxation without representation is bad, therefore the Dominion status exempts residents of Puerto Rico from all federal taxes, including the U.S. income tax.

And therein lies the secret of the popularity of Governor Munoz's Popular Party and the flow of U.S. capital to the island that has created the prosperity. The governor's continuance in office is predicated upon the theory he can make it last forever. But he will be over 70 toward the end of a fifth term. New and younger leaders are moving in. There is evidence that Munoz is slipping.

The opposition parties badgered him into asking Congress for a plebiscite on the question Washington sidestepped the issue by creating a commission to study the preferential status being enjoyed by the island paradise.

All admit that Hawaii never had it so good. And some people in stricken Alaska are wishing theirs was still a territorial status with its certainty of lighter taxes and more federal aid than is now available to them in statehood status.

Meanwhile, both Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy are on record with promises of White House support of independence any day Puerto Rico asks for it.

The existence of the commission has filled the islanders with fears and doubts. The Estadistas claim they are gaining strength. On the other hand the "second choice" of most of the Munoz Party is said to be complete independence. If the golden goose is not to live forever, they prefer the exit door — freedom, while they can get it!

NOW COMES FORTH Gordon Lewis, a University of Puerto Rico faculty member and erstwhile English Socialist Party member with a book, "Puerto Rico: Freedom and Power in the Caribbean," Monthly Review Press, $10.

Its 600 pages are loud, intellectual pleas for freedom now, no matter what the commission might propose or what the Estadistas may argue.

He sharply denounces America as a practitioner of an insidious "neo-colonialism." Governor Munoz is characterized as an authoritarian of little less than monarchial instincts and powers.

Prof. Lewis insists Puerto Ricans can never be Americans because through culture, religion, language and race they cannot escape being Latins first; Puerto Ricans forever and Americans never. When one contemplates the failure of two ethnic groups on the island of Cyprus to merge after centuries of imposed contiguity on one small area similar to Puerto Rico, disagreement with Lewis is most difficult.

WEST ALLIES ADD POWER TO

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the Western Allies have laid a solid foundation for an Atlantic partnership and should move vigorously to strengthen it.

Rusk spoke at a luncheon of Belgium - American organizations in advance of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial meeting. He urged cutbacks in Western sales to Cuba, increased aid by the Allies to South Viet Nam, expanded Western assistance to backward countries and lowering of tariffs.

Without specifically referring to France, Rusk clashed with President Charles de Gaulle's view that the NATO structure should be loosened.

European Nations and the United States must draw closer, both within their own structure and in dealing with problems around the world that affect NATO members.

"We know, and our peoples know, that no such thing as absolute sovereignty is to be had in today's world," he said. "For compelling and practical reasons the notion of national independence each day gives more ground to the principal of interdependence."

Taneytown—The annual banquet and dance of the Taneytown High School Alumni Association will be held Saturday, May 23, in the high school with dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Cochairmen are Mrs. John S. Harner and Mrs. James Fair. C. Dean Brown is reservations chairman.

Too much curry powder added to a sauce for curried meat, poultry or seafood sometimes produces a gritty texture in the sauce. Add less curry powder and, if you want the sauce hot, add cayenne or tabasco sauce.

State Population Growth Only 105,000 In 30 Years

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's population growth is the lowest since the depression years of the 1930s, according to U.S. census figures reported by the state Planning Board.

A U.S. census estimate last July 1 placed Pennsylvania's population at 11,424,000, an increase of only 105,000 over the official figure recorded in 1960.

The planning board said Friday the commonwealth's growth rate ranked 45th among the other states.

Breaking down the U.S. census figures by counties, the board made these findings: Union, Montour and Snyder counties are the fastest growing areas of the state.

Eight of the state's larger cities and boroughs show population increases since the 1960 census. They are Hazleton, Lock Haven, Meadville, Norristown, Philadelphia, Pottsville, Reading and Sunbury.

Pittsburgh, the state's second largest city, continued its steady decline, dropping from 604,332 residents in 1960 to an estimated 574,481 last year. Philadelphia went up from 2,002,512 in 1960 to an estimated 2,063,909.

On the whole, the board noted 32 counties lost population, compared to 24 between 1950 and 1960. The big losses were recorded in the coal counties of Lackawanna, Luzerne, Fayette, Jefferson, Cambria, and Armstrong and industrial counties such as Allegheny, Beaver, Lawrence and Washington.

ADAMS GROWING
In the 15 counties lying south and east of the Blue Mountain line from Easton to Chambersburg — sometimes referred to as megalopolis Pennsylvania — there has been an increase of 180,000 people since 1960," the board said. "But the 52 counties north and west of the mountain line in Appalachian Pennsylvania experienced a net loss of 75,000 during the same period."

Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware Counties, the fastest growing areas in 1960, experienced a marked slowdown in growth rates, the board noted, while Philadelphia reversed its loss of population in the 1950s.

Lancaster, York, Dauphin and Cumberland counties appear to be growing a little less rapidly, while Lebanon, Adams, and Franklin counties have accelerated their growth.

All the population estimates were based on the births and deaths recorded by the state Health Department over the past three years.

LEGAL NOTICES
NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ADOPT A RESOLUTION
Notice is hereby given that the School Board of the Fairfield Area School System intends to adopt, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of June 25, 1947, P.L. 1145 as amended, the taxes herein-after enumerated, at a regular meeting of the school board on June 15, 1964, at 8:00 o'clock, P.M., at the Fairfield consolidated elementary and secondary building. The substantial nature of the taxes and the taxes proposed to be adopted are as follows: A tax on the transfer of real property at the rate of 1%: a tax on occupations at the rate of 19¢ per capita tax of $5.00. The total amount of money estimated to be raised by said taxes is $75,000.00. The reason which, in the judgment of the school board, necessitates imposition of the taxes is to meet operating expense of the debt service of the school system. In addition to the above taxes, the Board intends to, pursuant to the authority of the Act of March 10, 1949, P.L. 30 as amended, impose a per capita tax of $5.00 and a real estate tax at the rate of 47 mills. The total amount of money to be raised by the said taxes is $127,440.00. E.D.S.T., at the above building. SECRETARY FAIRFIELD AREA SCHOOL SYSTEM, Pennsylvania.

BUDGET NOTICE
The tentative budget of the Mt. Joy Township Independent School District for the year 1964-65 is open for inspection at the home of the secretary, Charles M. A. Shildt, Taneytown R. 1, Md., until May 30 after which it will be finally adopted.

INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

JOHNSON ASKS FOR "JUSTICE" FOR ALL RACES

By FRANK CORMIER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—President Johnson, touring the Deep South, called Friday for "justice among the races." And he suggested that much of the South will find racial peace "before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson made his dramatic appeal for the civil rights cause in an address prepared for a breakfast meeting with members of the Georgia Legislature. His remarks, canvassing what he termed the "many troubles" of the South, were certain to be regarded as unusually significant.

Winding up a six-state tour of poverty-pocked Appalachia, the President suggested that in searching for racial justice, Georgia and the South "have a sure and faithful guide—the Constitution of the United States."

He declared: "Because the Constitution requires it—and because justice demands it—we must protect the constitutional rights of all of our people."

"For no one of us is fully free until all of us are fully free. And the rights of no single American are truly secure until the rights of all Americans are secure."

Johnson said that "racial problems have deep roots in Southern soil." However, he emphasized his view that such problems are not peculiar to any single section, saying: "They also trouble the passions of men on the shores of Maryland, in the slums of Philadelphia and in the streets of New York."

Actually, he took a hopeful view of the tribulations of the South, with these words: "We may well find racial peace in much of the South before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Blast Destroys Chemical Mixer

GIBBSTOWN, N.J. (AP)—An explosion which shook houses and rattled windows some four miles away destroyed part of a massive chemical mixer at the Du Pont Company's Repuno works at Gibbstown Thursday night.

There were no injuries reported from the blast, which ripped apart a 10-foot-long condenser in the dimethyl terephthalate (DMT) section, an intermediate in the manufacture of dacron, a synthetic fiber, and mylar foam.

Gibbstown is on the Delaware River in Gloucester County and the explosion was heard on both sides of the river.

No damage estimate was given, nor was the cause determined.

POLICE DOGS AT HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—What began as a raid on Radcliffe women's dormitories erupted into a noisy three-hour demonstration by nearly 4,000 Harvard students Thursday night.

The outburst was brought under control after the arrival of three Metropolitan District Commission police dogs and their trainers.

Police called for the dogs after Harvard's dean of men, Robert B. Watson, pleaded without success with the students to disperse.

Authorities said the demonstrators, good-natured and orderly until the dogs arrived, changed into a jeering and booing crowd. Police said bottles and firecrackers were thrown at the dogs and their trainers.

Technical Expert Says Vince Edwards Is A Very Good Neurosurgeon

Vince Edwards is now so in tune with Ben Casey role that he's picked up automatic reactions right for a neurosurgeon, according to the show's technical expert, surgical nurse Alice Rodriguez. The series continues on Wednesdays at 9 p.m. throughout the summer but will revert to Monday nights at 10 o'clock in September.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"Vince is still a little cautious about moving his head in close when he's shining the light into patients' eyes . . . probably afraid of hurting them."

"But otherwise in three years' time as Ben Casey he's picked up a whole set of automatic actions absolutely right for a neurosurgeon. He's pretty insistent at times about doing things his own way . . . and invariably he's right then, too. Maybe that's what makes him so good at directing. In addition to starring, he directed two shows in the series this past season, you know."

SOLE EXPERT

who taught the glowering Vince Edwards almost all he knows about medicine and surgery. She is registered nurse, Alice Rodriguez, who's been the series' sole technical expert since neurosurgeon Dr. Franz Bauer, "whom I'd known for years," went into the Navy.

And, yes, since the world is full of girls sighing over Casey (or Edwards) there are plenty of nurses waiting in line for Alice's job. However, except for an occasional spell off like her recent excursion East to take part in another ABC opus, "Missing Links," they can just wait.

The popular show is staying on for another season . . . and so is Alice. (Incidentally, ABC is restoring "Casey" to its original time and night — 10 p.m. Mondays come fall. In the meantime it's Wednesday at 9 throughout the summer.)

NOT AS EASY

Her job may be a lot of girls' idea of a dream . . . but actually it's no cinch, and it's very far from being her whole world.

Because: Alice in private life is Mrs. Paul Rodriguez, wife of a general surgeon and mother of four youngsters ranging in age from three to nine years. Monday through Friday "I'm on the set at 7:30. Leave at 6 or 6:30 or later."

During that time she will have directed the directors, supervises the actors, counseled the writers (there are 15) and set up all medical scenes.

"Actually the part of the job that scares me most is setting up the surgery!"

ON CAMERA OCCASIONALLY

She knows medical and nurses' associations are quick to take offense at inaccuracies, wants to be sure that, if there are any, they're are NOT unintentional. "We strive for accuracy. However, once in a while dramatic license is imperative because of time or other limitations."

The soft-voiced Alice, who has the unlaquered good looks of a girl just out of college — belying her wife-mother-technical expert qualifications — also gets on camera occasionally.

"But don't bother to watch for me," she cautions.

"Usually I'm a pair of eyes above a surgical mask. No, I have no desire to be an actress. My seven-year-old daughter was asked to audition but she found 'the pretend game' too sad and said 'no.' I certainly didn't push her for it . . . and was mighty relieved that she couldn't care less."

"A housekeeper stays with the children during the day . . . but we really spend a lot of time together. You can imagine how we love our weekends."

"There's a chance of my getting a slightly longer vacation this year, too," she glowed

"but that's strictly because Vince himself never takes a vacation and this time he's thinking of doing a movie."

"He's an amazing man. Boundless energy." The record proves her out. In a few years he has made his mark not only on television but also in the movies and in the recording field. Then last year he spent his vacation doing a personal appearance at Las Vegas.

TYPICAL WEEK

But obviously, Alice herself is no slouch at work.

In a sense she has a new freshman class to instruct every Monday.

"It's not just a matter of teaching actors how to be doctors in this whole different world of what to touch, what not to touch. Patients have to be coached too. In fact that cheerful Wilfred Hyde-Whyte boomed at me that I'd overdone it . . . you make me feel as that I really have the disease," he accused.

Sam Jaffee and his wife Betty Ackerman — "wonderful people and like Vince and Harry Landers pretty accustomed to what's required. All the regulars are. Sam, though, after going over his script very carefully also checks abbreviations. He's not going before the camera demanding a CBC unless he knows that what he's asking for is a complete blood count."

"I've been hoping, by the way, that the writers more and more would follow Dr. Zorbar on his rounds."

Her work with the writers doesn't start with blue-penciling a finished script. "I sometimes take them on field trips to Los Angeles County Hospital where I trained. It has no private wing, but otherwise with 3,000 beds on 54 acres of land it is like the hospital in our series. I also go back there and research every 'illness' we portray."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

"Who were the best doctors among the actors? Harry Guardino, who needed only one briefing and he was perfect, and Mark Richman, who knew what to do before I told him. Seems he's trained as a pharmacist, but I didn't know until later."

"What are the personality differences between Vince Edwards and Ben Casey. Heavens, they're both so complex I wouldn't begin to know. Obviously Vince was a natural for the role. But he has something that doesn't show through in Casey, a sense of humor."

"Vince certainly works as hard. Though when I consulted with him on an episode he was also directing he shrugged off the double load saying, 'Look, I've got it easier than most directors we use. After all, I don't have to hunt around for my star. I know where he is all the time!'"

INDISPENSABLE

Irna Phillips is believed to be the first person to be working for all three networks at the same time. She is consultant to ABC for nighttime dramatic programs, creator of the new NBC series, "Another World"; creator-writer of "As the World Turns" on CBS.

SHOWBIZ DYNASTY

Art Fleming, host of "Jeopardy" on NBC is a seventh generation member of a show business family.

NO LAUGHING MATTER

RED MANIKINS MORE LURING THAN STYLES

GENOA, Italy (AP) — It's just possible that the Soviet manikins attracted more attention than the Soviet fashions in three weeks of a Russian style show here.

Fashion conscious Italian women in the audience called the furs exquisite, the leather good, the dress materials fair—and the styles outmoded.

But neither men nor women in the audience had any criticism of the Russian girls who did the modeling—except that they would be unlikely to get a modeling job for any Western European fashion house.

PRETTY FARMERS

They wore no makeup. They bloomed with vigorous good health. They didn't look like movie stars, but like the girl on the next farm or in the next apartment house.

Above all, most of them were a great deal more shapely than the slinky types who do the modeling for fashion houses in the west. Their figures leave little room for criticism.

Knees showed in some of the afternoon dresses, even though most of the models were a little more below the knee than current Italian style allows.

Furs got most of the attention of the Italian women viewers. There were full length astrakans, Eskimo hooded white arctic fox, and short capes.

CASH FOR FURS

Women who asked were told that an astrakan in Russia costs $1,100. But that would be cash on the line. "Such furs are not sold on installment," a spokesman explained. "Not at those prices, anyway. On installments you can buy synthetic furs which cost considerably less."

Many of the styles shown were based on regional folk costumes, some of them clearly out of the Russian czarist era. There were elaborate evening gowns with an Indian sari effect. One costume had tight-fitting trousers tucked into quarter-length boots and covered over with a three-quarter length sports coat.

KNEE SHOW

Fur hats were common but lacking in novelty. Fine leather boots which have swept Western Europe the past two winters were worn with skirt and blouse combinations, sports outfits and almost everything except evening gowns.

Peasant costumes abounded and many of these, as well as some of the more ordinary daywear, had skirts hiked up to show as much knee as you can see these days on Rome's Via Veneto or Paris' Champs Elysees.

Indians Criticize "Pale" Drinkers

FORT WASHAKIE, Wyo. (AP) — Palefaces' drinking too much water may force closing of Ray Lake to residents outside the Wind River Indian Reservation.

Maurice Fishencord, chief of the Indian police, said drinking white men had littered the lake with so many floating beer cans it is a hazard to water skiing Indians.

He said if the white men can't hold their liquor any better, the Indians will have to close the lake to non-Indians.

KEYNOTER

Fred W. Friendly, one time partner of Edward R. Murrow, and now CBS News president was keynote speaker for the 13th annual convention of American Women in Radio and Television in Tulsa, Okla.

OUTRANKED

Buddy Ebsen of "Beverly Hillsbillies" met his wife in 1945 when he was in the Navy and she in the Coast Guard. He got his lieutenant senior grade status "just enough before the wedding to outrank her."

The first three engravers in the United States were Paul Revere, Benjamin Franklin and Isaiah Thomas, who distinguished himself at the Battle of Lexington.

9-WEEK FILMING

Doris Ann, manager of NBC's religious programs, is enroute to the Middle East with a television unit to produce a one-hour film on archeology and the Bible for the Southern Baptist Hour.

Total shooting time is estimated at nine weeks. The resulting 60-minute study will be shown in May, 1965.

According to the network the as yet untitled program "will survey the remains of great civilizations of antiquity: Persian, Babylonian, Assyrian, Sumerian, Egyptian, Israelite and Greek."

RECORD

Arnold Moss, who will chose and commentate car races for ABC's "Wide World of Sports" has won more important road events than any other driver (194 out of the 466 he entered).

INTERNATIONAL FAVORITE

Jackie Gleason's show was awarded the Golden Rose of Montreaux at the International Television Festival in Switzerland.

SHADY SIDE

Doris Ann, NBC producer now on location in the cloudless Middle East, always takes her umbrella along, "to hold over the camera in the scalding hot sun."
